

A Special Trip to Mars

4A Tang Ka Man, Carman

Last month, plant scientists, Tom, May and Joy took a trip to Mars by a spaceship.

When they landed, they started to look for some special species of plants. Suddenly, Tom yelled, 'Wow! Look at this eating flower! It's so wonderful to see it.' Then, they picked the flower carefully and put it into a case that was filled with air so that plants could breathe in it.

At the laboratory on Mars, they began doing some experiments. While they were carrying out their experiments, they looked out the window to see the flower. 'Wow, it can hold a pencil with its mouth!' said Tom. Don't worry, little flower, we will not hurt you,' murmured Joy.

The next day, they had to take a closer look at the flower to observe it. When they got closer to the flower, it suddenly became invisible. They were surprised, and frightened. They did not want to remain on Mars because they were afraid of becoming invisible. Then, they left Mars and went back to Earth.

