A Diary

Sunny

Yesterday was Christmas. It was the best day for a trip to Yantianzi. We went to Sai Kung to take a boat there. My sister and I were very happy.

When we arrived there, I saw many people in a restaurant. Next to the restaurant that we were going to, there was a trail to go to a salt farm. After eating lunch, we went hiking. We saw some beautiful butterflies, some places for barbecue and a blue sea.

After we hiked, we went to the salt farm and learned how salt was made. I saw some pools and some pipes. At last, we went to church. We saw a bell and a maze. Finally, we went to a shop to buy souvenirs and got on the boat to go back home.

I was tired, but I was happy. My favourite part was to sit on the pavilion. I saw the most beautiful sight I have ever seen. Yesterday was fun and wonderful. I hope I can visit there again.
