Book report: The Animals' Christmas

In this Christmas, Old Reindeer explains to Rabbit Father that Christmas gives children presents. 'I used to pull Father Christmas's sleigh so I know that animals don't get any presents,' says Old Reindeer. 'That's not fairBut we animals can still make Father Christmas happy?' asks Rabbit Father. So they decorate a fir tree with Squirrel, Golden Eagle and Fox. They also make a fire and bring some food. Squirrel brings some hazelnuts. Fox cooks some carrots with honey. Golden Eagle makes an apple cake and Rabbit Father brings some apples as well. The next morning the animals get presents, too.

I think the animals love Christmas because they prepare the party food and make a fire to warm Father Christmas. They are very kind and thoughtful because they know that Father Christmas need to rest when he gives presents. They also like presents because they do many things to let Father Christmas know that they want presents.
