Today, I joined the 'English Read Aloud Challenge'.

When I sat down in the hall, I noticed that everybody was practising their script so hard. When the competition went on, I listened to the candidates reading their scripts, to see how I could read my own story better. When it was my turn, I was nervous. After reading the story, I was relaxed.

After that, the organizer prepared some English activities like booth games, karaoke, Nintendo games etc. I got some popcorn and played some games with my friends joyfully.

Unfortunately, I didn't get a prize. But I will continue practising and hope I can get a prize next time. I learnt a lot from this event.

Yesterday, I went to my friend's birthday party. When I arrived there, we instantly went to the clubhouse to play. Their little cousins came there too.

After that, we went back to the barbecue site and ate some pizza and chips. After eating, we ran back to the clubhouse. We were playing so happily and didn't notice that we had been playing for two whole hours!

When we went back to the barbecue site, everyone had already left, and we were very hungry, so we ate some of the leftover food.

After eating the food, we played with candles. We lit the candles one by one very carefully. In the end, we cleaned up everything and left. It was so memorable!

They saw two fairies fly out. The fairies said, 'You are a naughty girl. You sneaked out of the event. I will tell your mother. You sneaked out without asking.' Stella was very afraid and answered, 'Don't tell my mother, please. I will apologize to my parents. I promise.' Then, the fairies let her go back.

When Stella came back, she apologized to her mother. Her mother forgave her and they planted the trees together.

In 2014, there were three plant scientists. Their names were Peter, Ben and Tommy. They had a special trip to Mars. They were looking for some rare species of plants there. Suddenly, they saw a carnivorous flower. Ben said, 'Oh, look! It's a carnivorous flower.' They tried to take it to keep it in their lab.

A few hours later, Peter, Ben and Tony went to do experiments in the lab. They put a book and a pencil towards the carnivorous flower, but the flower suddenly ate them up. They were surprised.

The next day, the flower disappeared. They tried to find it carefully in the spaceship, but they couldn't see it again. They were exhausted and confused.

Five hours later, Peter and Tommy suddenly saw the carnivorous flower biting Ben. He screamed in horror! Peter and Tommy were traumatized too, so they quickly called a hospital on Earth for help. But unfortunately, Ben passed away before they could take him to the hospital. Peter told some plant scientists to help take back the carnivorous flower and trap it in a cage forever.
