Today, I would like to share a book with you all. It is called 'Batman and Robin and Howard'. It is written by Jeffrey Brown. The story is about Batman wanting Robin to go to school. While Batman goes on a mission, Batman gets captured by a villain. Robin tells his friend, Howard, that he is a superhero. Then, they both go on an adventure to save Batman. In the end, Batman is rescued and the villain is captured.

I want to share this book with you because it is very interesting. I also learned a valuable lesson, which is sometimes you don't need to worry so much. For example, when Robin tells Howard his big secret..... I like Robin the best because he is smart. He does the right thing to save Batman. This is the end of my book sharing. I hope you like this book. Thank you.

Today, I would like to share a book with you. It is called 'Cinderella's Stepsisters'. It is published by Broad Learning. The story is about Cinderella's stepmother and sisters wanting someone to do all of the chores. However, Cinderella has already married Prince Charming. So, Cinderella's stepsisters need to do all the chores by themselves. Finally, they know how hard it is to do all the chores and they write an apology letter to Cinderella. Cinderella forgives them and she brings some people from the palace to do the chores for them.

I share this book with you because it teaches us that we should be grateful for everything others have done for us. My favourite character is Cinderella. She is kind because she forgives her sisters who treated her badly before.

This is the end of my book sharing. I hope you like this book.

A Mystery Box

Last summer, Stella joined the School Tree Planting Day with her best friends, Peter and Joe. It was hot and humid at noon when they arrived at the country park.

As soon as the children got there, the teacher distributed the spades and seedlings to them. They brought their own gloves. The teacher showed them how to plant the seedlings. The children soon got separated into groups and split up with the teacher and the classmates near the forest because they liked adventures. 'This is great fun!' said Stella after they started planting.

Thirty minutes later, Peter dug a great deep hole for a giant seedling. Unexpectedly, Peter felt something hard in the soil. He yelled, 'Stella! Joe! Come look. I think I have found something that doesn't belong here!' They worked together and discovered a massive, ancient-looking chest.

'We should tell Mr. Lau,' suggested Joe. They kept planting until Stella, driven by curiosity, secretly opened the chest away from Joe and Peter. Two little elves burst out of the time-worn box after Stella opened it. The two fairies said, 'Thanks for saving us, Stella! You and your friends can each have one true wish!' Stella called Joe and Peter to make their wishes. 'I want unlimited money!' exclaimed Joe. Stella said, 'Let's all go to Ocean Park!' However, Peter fainted. Both of their wishes came true.

A Visit to the Home for the Aged

Last Friday, Mary, Ben, Roy and I went to the Home for the Aged to help the elders. We fed an old man and helped an old woman carefully. We felt glad.

After lunch, Mary and I wanted to give the elders some scarves. Suddenly, I said, 'Oh no, the scarves are lost!' Mary said, 'Let's find them.' We felt scared. Then, we discussed how to solve the problem. Next, we decided to buy some more scarves.

In the end, we bought more scarves. We gave them to the elders. They felt surprised. We felt amazed and wonderful.

Last Friday, my friends and I went to the Home for the Aged to visit the old people. When we arrived, Azal first helped feeding an old man and I helped an old woman put on her clothes. We also helped other people. They felt glad.

For this visit, we brought a bag of scarves for the old people as gifts. When we opened the bag, we found that the scarves were gone. Azal said, 'Let's find them.' We searched everywhere but we still couldn't find them.

Then, my friends and I discussed how to solve the problem. Suddenly, Azal thought that we could give a performance for the old people. We found some clothes and hats. We were ready to do the performance.

At last, when the old people woke up, we told them to sit on their chairs. The performance started. The old people were surprised but they watched happily. My friends and I were also happy because we didn't do the performance incorrectly and the old people were happy.

Last Friday, my friends and I went to the Home for the Aged. I helped an old woman joyfully. Ben fed an old man carefully. I put on a jacket for an old woman gently. The old woman was as happy as a lark.

Next, Kathy and I went to take the scarves. I said, 'Oh no! Where are the scarves?' Kathy said, 'Hmm... What about we talk to our friends, Chloe?' We were nervous, we didn't know where they were.

Then, my friends and I discussed how to solve the problem with our friends. Ben said, 'What can we do?' I said, 'We should sing a beautiful song for the elders.' We agreed.

Finally, my friends and I sang a nice song for the elders. The elders clapped their hands for joy and cheered gracefully. We were on cloud nine.

A Gift Box

Today it was Nancy's birthday. She woke up and saw a gift box. She was thrilled. With excitement bubbling inside her, she hurried to unwrap it. It was a beautiful doll with blue eyes glowing like diamonds, smooth golden brown hair looking as if it was made of gold, a flowery red dress contrasting with the eyes, red heels and a necklace. She ran up to her mom and thanked her.

Last summer, Stella and her friends joined the School Tree Planting Day at a valley to protect the environment. 'Let's replant some trees.' Stella suggested. 'Good idea!' replied Looey.

When they were digging a small hole to put the sapling in, they suddenly felt something as hard as a rock. They dug it up. It was a box. Stella cried, 'WOW! We dug up a box!' Venti said. "There might be treasure in it! Do you want to open it?" They wanted to open the box.

Then, she slowly opened the box out of curiosity. But there was no treasure inside. Instead, two fairies flew out of the box. One of them said, 'We are the fairies of chaos and we are going to destroy the world! HEHEHE!' 'Oh no! I need to stop you two!' Stella said, with a sense of determination in her voice.

Finally, Stella closed the box with the fairies of chaos inside so they couldn't take control. They went home and told other people but they didn't believe it.

Yesterday was the Tree Planting Day which was held in the country park. There were three volunteers who went to the park to plant trees. When they were planting trees, one of the volunteers said, 'This plant is in a bad shape.' The other volunteer, Stella, answered that he could replant it into richer soil. Then, they handled the plants skillfully because they were easy to break. They enjoyed the Tree Planting Day very much.

When they were digging the soil, they found a box underneath, which made them feel surprised. Stella said, 'Look at what I found!' Then, one of the volunteers suggested, 'Let's open it.' When Stella opened the box, two little things burst out from the box. Stella said, 'Oh my goodness! What is it?!' She was scared. Then, they said, 'Hello we are the two little angels.' At that time, she wasn't afraid of them anymore.

After that, the two little angels gave a wish to each of the volunteers as a gift. Stella made a wish first. She wished that more plants would be all over the country park. The little angels turned the country park into a sea of plants, immediately. The other two volunteers were astonished because of this scene. Therefore, they requested to use their wishes for ten more wishes for each of them. The two little angels were in a fury and flew away instantly.

The two volunteers were very disappointed because they got nothing from the angels. Stella said to the two volunteers, 'Today, you two learnt a lesson. Don't be greedy anymore!'

A Visit to the Elderly's Home

Last Friday, John and I visited the Home for the Aged. First, we ate with the old women and the old men. When the elderly came, we fed them happily. I helped an old woman put on a jacket. After that, we wanted to give them some scarves.

We suddenly realized that the scarves were gone. I said to John, 'We must find out who stole them!' Then we went to different spots and saw a homeless guy. We asked him, 'Did you steal our scarves?' The homeless man replied, 'Yes, I'm sorry. I thought it was no one's and I was shivering from the cold!' We said, 'Oh! You are poor but you shouldn't steal anything.'

Finally, I said to my friends, 'Let's go back to school.' John said, 'That's a good idea.' We gave the scarves to the elderly before we left.

Last summer, Stella joined the School Tree Planting Day with her friends, Roy and Jeff. It was very sunny. In the early morning, they arrived at Sai Kung Country Park.

After they got there, they started planting in an open space near the forest and started digging holes. Suddenly, they found a large brown box. Stella shouted, 'Wow! What's inside the box?' Roy said, 'Let's open it!'

When Stella opened the box, two fairies flew out. One of them said, 'Hi, Stella! Thank you for saving us!' Stella and her friends discussed it and agreed to let Stella bring them home.

Finally, the fairies promised to give Stella a wish. She wished to go to Japan with her friends. The fairies used magic to bring them to Japan and they were happy.

A Visit to the Elderly's Home

Last Friday, my friend Alan, my dog and I visited the Home for the Aged. Alan fed an old man and I helped an old woman to get dressed. All of us were glad.

Before we went to the elderly's home, we made some scarves for them. We put them in a bag.

After lunch, the bag was gone! We looked for it everywhere but we could not find it. I asked Alan, 'Did you find the scarves?' He said, 'No, I didn't.' Alan suggested, 'Maybe we can make them again.' 'No! I will find the scarves!' I said.

When I was going to give up, my dog took a bag to me. I was glad that my dog had found the scarves and we gave them to the elderly.

Learning a "Green" Lesson

4E Ngan Shan Ching, Zenith

One day, Tony did something wrong. He had a bath in the bathroom. He played with water excitedly. He wasted too much water.

After that, Tony watched a football match happily in the living room. His mom shouted angrily, 'Tony, you forgot to turn off the tap in the bathroom.' Tony didn't turn off the tap because he was watching TV.

The next day, Tony read a notice in the lift lobby. It said, 'No water'. Tony said, 'I feel sorry because I wasted too much water.' Tony knew he did something wrong.

Finally, Tony learnt that he should not waste too much water. He ought to use less water to protect the environment.

A Mystery Box

Last summer, Stella, Theo and Jameson's school set up a creative event at a place called 'Dragon Land Park'. They joined the event which was called 'Tree Planting Day'. They were crouched over the ground and chatting happily. 'I love replanting trees! It is so exciting to know that you're protecting the environment!' Jameson said animatedly, 'Yeah! You never know how tall the trees will grow! I am looking forward to seeing the trees grow up to thousands of metres tall in the future!' Stella replied

Thirty minutes later, they were doing the highlight of the day, The Digging Challenge. Whoever dug and found the tree roots would win. While they were digging, they came across a large silver box which was decorated with ravishing gems such as rubies, sapphires and more. 'Wow! A secret box! Should we take a look inside?' Stella asked. She was mesmerized. 'Maybe we should. Who knows what amazing items could be in that?' Theo muttered. Everybody was very curious.

After that, Stella, Jameson and Theo went home. Stella decided to open the box. However, it needed a key. With her quick-witted mind, she picked the lock with a hairpin. In no time, two playful fays came out. Stella was a bit overwhelmed by their unique presence. Even though the fays came out so quickly like a dolphin jumping out of the sea, Stella could not withstand seeing such a sight. 'We will grant you five wishes each if you solve our riddle.' They said with a high-pitched and comical voice. 'Could you wait a moment? I want to get my friends,' Stella asked softly.

The next day in the morning, Stella groggily woke up her friends and told them the news about the fays. They intelligently solved the riddle so they got their wishes. Thanks for the fairies, the world was now a better place.

A Visit to the Home for the Aged

Last Friday, my friends and I visited the Home for the Aged. First, we had lunch with the elders. We were so happy.

When I went to give them the gift, we found that it was gone! Abby and I needed Chris and Bob's help.

Chris said, 'What can we do? Then, I thought of a creative idea. We gave happiness to the elders. My friends and I distributed our hand-made crafts to the elders. The elders even performed a charming dance to thank us. We were shocked and surprised to see how professional they were.

We did not buy anything. We gave them happiness. The elders will never forget us. We learnt that money can't buy happiness and we should spend time with the people we care about.
